Madonna University Continuing Ed. Courses Ring in a Knowledgeable New Year  Teacher Education Workshops and Online Classes Now Available **

What: Members of the community can explore a new hobby, advance within their profession, and gain useful knowledge to make 2009 a healthy and prosperous year with Madonna University's full schedule of winter Continuing Education credit and noncredit courses.

Students can earn graduate credit or state board continuing education units through Madonna's new teacher education workshops. Visit www.madonna.edu/pages/edupdp.cfm, or e-mail pdp@madonna.edu for dates, times and costs.

Some of the noncredit health and wellness classes include: Art as a Stress Relief, Five Permanent Weight Loss Secrets, Easy Indoor Walking Workout, and a free Creative Life Writing class. The affordable classes and lectures range from two-hour sessions to 13 weeks. A detailed course schedule and online registration are available at www.madonna.edu by clicking on Future Students, then Continuing Education & Professional Studies. For more information about Continuing Education courses, call 734-432-5804.

More than 200 six-week noncredit online courses are now available in the areas of accounting, computer skills, photography, teacher education, writing fiction and more. New courses begin each month; review the full course schedule and register at www.ed2go.com/madonnaedu, or call 734-432-5804.

When: Classes have varying start dates, with many beginning mid-January.
