Madonna University Grant Writing and Gerontology Summer Workshop Courses

What: Workshops for students and members of the community. Either workshop can be taken for college credit, or as noncredit professional development at half-price tuition.

“Law Enforcement in Elder-friendly Communities” focuses on the changing demographics of our society and how it affects those studying or working in criminal justice, emergency management or geriatrics. The 12-week course, begins Tuesday, May 5, and presents students pro-active strategies for anticipating and addressing the needs of elder community members. For more information, call 734-432-5545.

“Proposal Writing & Grant Administration” offers the basic skills needed to prepare a successful grant proposal when seeking funding for a non-profit organization. The five-week workshop, begins Saturday, May 30, and covers the following course topics: generating program ideas, researching funding sources, formatting a basic proposal, and understanding the politics of grants. Guest speakers will share examples of successful proposals. For more information, call 734-432-5531.
